Description

"Italiana Ponteggi" manufactures its wide range of products with steel and stamped plates which are subject to continuous quality controls in order to guarantee excellent performances in building sites as well as great reliability and longevity. "Italiana Ponteggi" implements a production process that is compliant with DIN 8593 regulations concerning the irreversible joining of stamped plates of different elements belonging to the same item through the technology called "pressure joining" or "clinching". This joining process presents many advantages: it is environmentally friendly and it safeguards the workers' health (no harming gas or fumes are used) due to the high mechanical characteristics guaranteed by the circular geometry of close-joints without notching and with elongated embossment that provide the coupler with high resistance to tensile stress.
